

FOXES ISLAND

BY JOHN BELSHAM

From Winemaker John Belsham

The 2014 vintage offered the opportunity to create a wine that expresses my love of architecture and design; perfectly suited for the Artist Series Collection. It was a warm, very even growing season yielding grapes with an intensity of flavour and structure; a benefit of both the vintage and the increasing vine age. The grapes and resulting juice were gently handled through the entire winemaking process, and the wine naturally settled on its own; thus, it is un-fined and naturally vegan friendly.

Outstanding , 95 Points Cameron Douglas, Master Sommelier

Aromas of fresh and aged cherry fruits, sweet and preserved plums, complexities from bottle age and fragrances of earth, stones, roses and barrel spices. Taut and dry on the palate with salivating tannins and acidity then flavours of red berries and plums, savoury dried herbs and barrel spice qualities.

Complex, lengthy, perfectly weighted and ready to drink from 2023 through 2030+.

13.5% alcohol

Aged in French oak

Un-fined, Naturally Vegan Friendly
